

Stu's News. Friday, November 28, 2008

Black Friday is here and you are all out shopping for that 52" HDTV that Target has on sale for $99. (It's was only on sale between 4:18 am and 4:22am today, supplies limited only 1 per customer, (may be slightly damaged, probably wont work at all). The real pinch is not that our incomes have been hurt, but that we are watching our retirements go down to dust. So I've cut back on the more luxurious items. I'm going to put off buying that new Orioles baseball hat I've been eyeing. I even heard that one of my neighbors is so strapped he's switched from High Test 93 Octane gasoline to Low Test 87 Octane for his Ferrari. What is this world coming to?

Well the last thing we need around here is cutting back from our life styles. So what I did was come up with some great Party Ideas that will make your life simple and probably let you go back to putting that High Test Back in the Tank
